HEALTH & WELLBEING

Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust - Tackling Serious Stress in Veterans, Families and Carers Programme

Aims/priorities: The intention of this programme is to make a small number of large grants that will enable charities and health professionals to work together in a portfolio to develop and try new ideas that they have to support veterans and their carers and families and where there is good evidence to suggest that this portfolio of work might produce outcomes that are better than current sources of support on offer.

The programme will support organisations helping veterans with severe mental health needs who do not meet the usual criteria for hospitalisation and inpatient treatment by providing funding for innovative and new ways of working to reduce serious stress in these veterans, their carers and families. The programme aims to provide additional resources that will fill the gaps in existing statutory provision, making a genuine and lasting difference to those in significant need, while not overlapping with any of the current mental health services or other statutory support. By doing so it will deliver two of the Armed Forces Covenant's four core themes - providing non-core healthcare services for veterans and providing extra support after service for those that need help.

Grants are available to fund a small number of project portfolios across the UK that will each be managed by a single lead organisation from the charitable or statutory sectors in collaboration with a number of supporting organisations, which will deliver the funded activities.

As part of the scheme, all funded portfolios will be expected to participate in an overarching research project, which will explore whether the support that the portfolios of projects are delivering is better than existing statutory services on offer.

Who can apply? Applications must be made by a single lead organisation responsible for managing the portfolio of projects. These lead organisations will be expected to work in collaboration with a number of other organisations to deliver the activities.

Eligible single lead organisation must:

- Be an established organisation (statutory or registered charities) with experience in delivering complex projects to people who are very unwell.
- Have a track record of successfully delivering complex projects.
- Have a track record in working with research organisations.
- Have established mechanisms for governance of complex projects supporting vulnerable adults.

At least one voluntary sector organisation (charity or Community Interest Company) must be included as a delivery organisation. The Trust is particularly keen to encourage cross sector partnerships, bringing in specialist resources and expertise. Organisations involved should be able to show relevant skills and expertise for the work that they are delivering.

Grant amount: Maximum grant is £ 700,000

Application process: An online application form is available on the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust website. Applicants who have not applied to the Trust before, or since April 2018, will need to register before gaining access to the application form. Applicants must also submit a high-level delivery plan as a separate PDF or Word attachment.

Deadline: The deadline for applications is 31 December 2018.
